Application

The also Forming-Machine, type AFM 250, is used for forming and portioning a homogenous product under low pressure.

Depending on the chosen system the machine can produce different formed products like Hamburgers as well as round and cylindrical products like meat balls with a diaphragm system.

The product is loaded into a hopper and then fed very gently via screws to the forming head or the diaphragm head. The drive of the machine is equipped with a gear motor and the desired quantity of products can easily be adjusted by a crank mechanism.

Due to the compact and smooth design of the machine it can be cleaned easily in short time. No product can get into the machine and all screws and forming heads can simply be disassembled.
